We work for beauty.

We produce and develop cosmetic solutions that originate from high-quality starting materials, such as brown seaweed. The seaweed is used to extract alginates that become occlusive face masks that follow and mould perfectly over the microscopic details of the skin.

With 40 years' experience in the alginates sector, Zhermack guarantees quality and expertise: we are one of the world's largest manufacturers of these materials, and use cutting-edge automated equipment to provide a prompt response to market demands.

From formulation to packaging, every step of production is managed in-house.

To manufacture cosmetic face masks with a neutral formulation or a customised formulation, or even a brand-new range of cosmetic alginates with functional ingredients.
